Shipping Terms Policy

Vournas Coffee Trading strives to provide excellent support to all of our customers by arranging for shipping through commercial accounts established by our customers with their preferred freight carrier. This allows our customers to place orders and simply wait for their order to arrive. We handle the shipping and warehouse release details so you can tend to other business issues.

Your order of coffee will leave our warehouse locations wrapped and palletized (unless you request otherwise) and in perfect shipping condition. In rare circumstances damage may occur to shipments while enroute. This is damage caused by the freight company, and as a common carrier of goods the independent freight company is always responsible for damage caused to goods while in their possession. Vournas Coffee Trading is not liable for damage to coffee. A Bill of Lading (B.O.L.), which legally binds the shipping/freight company is completed on all shipments for your benefit and protection.

If a shipment is damaged or is missing a bag(s), you MUST note this on the B.O.L. before the truck leaves your premises. This is paramount! Failure to do so will result in the loss/damage being absorbed solely by you. To help prevent this, as the receiving customer, Vournas Coffee Trading recommends that you do the following upon the arrival of every shipment:

1. Count all bags immediately while the driver is still there, and before you have signed the B.O.L. Note any discrepancy on the B.O.L. DO NOT BE RUSHED BY THE DRIVER!
2. Inspect all bags for damage (holes, stains, tears, etc.) and note these on the B.O.L. if applicable. Estimate the pound loss (if any) for bags with tears and spilled beans.
3. Sign the B.O.L. and maintain a copy of your B.O.L.

4. Customer will be responsible for any extra charges from Freight Company including but not limited to inside delivery, lift gate, redelivery charges, appointment calls, 24 hour notice, etc. These charges may or may not be deemed necessary by the Freight Company that facilitates delivery.

ONCE THE TRUCK LEAVES, ANY DAMAGE TO COFFEE, STAINED OR MISSING BAGS THAT ARE NOT NOTED ON THE TRUCK'S B.O.L. WILL NEVER, AND WE REPEAT NEVER, BE COMPENSATED. We are not being rude, just informing of the limits of liability.

Your freight will be shipped freight collect. If there is damage to your shipment that you noted with the truck's BOL, you will need to file your claim with the trucking company. Vournas Coffee Trading will endeavor to assist you in this process by supporting your shipment value with supporting information, but you must file the claim and await reimbursement on lost or damaged coffee.

For best results, please ensure that the person receiving coffee shipments is completely aware of the legal issues and the shipping policy requirements when receiving inventory and signing a Bill of Lading.
